BIG TRAFFIC PROBLEM MAY BE SOLVED

One Structure With Double
Approach on East Fines
Favor With Officials

The Los Angeles City Planning commission will be requested to place the proposed bridge over the Los Angeles river at the point where it will conveniently serve the largest volume of traffic.

The City Council will suggest that the bridge be placed midway between Broadway and Colorado street, or that these two streets be merged into one approach to the structure.

Councilman Horn brought the subject up at last night's meeting of the council, and at the request of the mayor, will communicate with the Los Angeles authorities regarding the matter. He stated that with two streets combined into one approach to the bridge, traffic congestion would be largely avoided. Each year sees increasing difficulties to be faced in this connection.

The suggestion, if carried out, would no doubt be of benefit to residents of this city, and would eliminate a portion of the trouble which is now experienced in traffic tie-ups, it was said by the councilmen.

WIDEN SCOPE OF VETERANS' PROBE

Special Agents Seek Evidence of Fraud in Two
More Bureaus

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2.—The senatorial inquiry into the United States veterans' bureau extended today into two other government departments in its search for evidence of fraud and extravagance in the care of disabled veterans.

Although the senate committee was not in session a large staff of special agents were investigating hospitalization transactions involving large sums of money spent by minor officials in the treasury department and the comptroller-general's office. They sought additional information on:

$182,100 Hospital Site

First—Execution of a contract to purchase a hospital site at Excelsior Springs, Mo., for $182,100 by Ewing La Follette, a 26-year-old former assistant secretary of the treasury, over the objections of the public health service, and Second—Payment of a $33,000 architect's claim of O. T. O'Brien of San Francisco for plans at Livermore, Calif., by W. E. Gordon, chief of the military claims division in the comptroller-general's office, over the protest of the veterans' bureau.

Diamond and Cash Taken by Burglars

The residence of Mrs. Augusta Hulft, 346 North Jackson street was broken into Thursday evening about 8:30 o'clock, while Mrs. Hulft was attending the Halloween parade with friends. Entrance was gained by forcing a rear bed room window.

A diamond ring and sixty-five dollars in cash, together with other articles, belonging to Miss Anna Nelson, who is staying with Mrs. Hulft, were taken. The police have several clues which they hope will lead to the apprehension of the burglars.

Jeanne Coolidge, 17, Sought by Parents

PASADENA, Nov. 2.—A statewide search was under way today for pretty 17-year-old Jeanne Coolidge, reported to police by her father, Douglas W. Coolidge, cousin of President Coolidge and a wealthy merchant here, to be missing from her home for 48 hours. The great grandfathers of President Coolidge and the merchant were brothers.

Battle at Aix-la-Chapelle
as America Threatens to Quit Economic Confab

PORTLAND, Maine, Nov. 2.—An appeal for the "unfortunate people of Germany" was made by United States Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, on his return to this country today from a three months' tour of Europe.

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—Formal decision was taken by the Socialists this afternoon to withdraw from the Stresemann coalition cabinet. There are three Socialist ministers. They were expected to tender their resignations this evening. The Socialists are Wilhelm Sollman, minister of interior; Gustav Rahbruch, minister of justice, and Robert Schmidt, minister of reconstruction.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 2.—In a violent battle in which there were numerous casualties, German separatists succeeded in capturing the Aix-la-Chapelle town hall from the police and firemen, according to word received here this afternoon. The army of secessionists was made up of detachments from Coblenz, Crefeld and Duisburg. Firemen and communists reinforced police holding the town hall until it was blown up.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—American irritation over the French threat to limit the scope of the experts' inquiry into the reparations controversy was appreciably lessened today.

A copy of the French note to Great Britain, accepting the invitation to the conference was received at the state department, and while it was not made public, it is understood that it is not nearly so bombastic as the public utterances of Premier Poincare and the French foreign office have indicated.

May Decline Invitation

If it is the French government's intention to limit the scope of the parley to ascertain what Germany can pay now and not in the future, then it is probable that Secretary of State Hughes will decline the invitation to participate. It has been the Coolidge-Hughes idea that the conference should be composed of competent business and financial experts, who should proceed to a careful consideration of Germany's assets and render a decision as to (1) how much she is capable of paying, and (2) a financial plan by which payments could be made.

There was to be nothing binding on the government to accept the conclusions of experts. It was recognized France had the right to not commit herself in advance.

Woodrow Wilson to Speak Over Radio

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2.—Breaking the silence that, with few exceptions, has maintained since his retirement from the White House, Woodrow Wilson has consented to make a public address on the night of November 10, which will be carried over the radio and broadcasted to thousands of Americans, it was announced here today.

The former president, however, will not leave his home in S. St. He will deliver the address, seated in his invalid's chair in his library.

MAY BUY TICKETS

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, announced this morning that the club members will be privileged to buy tickets for guests for the club luncheon next Tuesday. Reservations for the luncheon will be received by Mrs. A. A. Barton in the clubhouse office up until Saturday noon.

Mere Male Man Fools Film Fans in Minter Case

Mary Miles Minter did not appear in person at the local police court this morning when her case was called. She was charged with exceeding the speed limit on Brand boulevard, October 26. M. B. Towman, Glendale representative of the Automobile Club of Southern California, appeared in her behalf, pleaded guilty, and paid the fine of $25 which Judge Morton assessed.

The court was fairly well crowded with persons hoping to see the famous movie star, but they were disappointed. Motor Officer Dan Arner was the arresting officer.

BIRTHDAY PARTY HONORS PIONEER

J. W. Gillette, Who Came
West in Covered Wagon,
Guest at Surprise

Jeffrey Wisner Gillette, covered wagon tourist of 1857, and now an honored member of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club, celebrated his 87th birthday yesterday, the occasion being marked with a most enjoyable surprise dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Turner of 118 East Park avenue, where Mr. Gillette has made his home during the past three years.

The Turner home was artistically decorated in a pink color scheme and a birthday table set for a company of Los Angeles friends and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Reynolds and Mrs. W. E. Reynolds of Glendale.

After the final course a large birthday cake with lighted candles was placed before Mr. Gillette. Favors were walnut shells containing bits of poetry. One of the shells contained a clipping telling of a birthday party given for Mr. Gillette thirty years ago at which E. W. Reynolds was one of the guests.

Mr. Gillette recalls Los Angeles when it was a village of 4,500 people. He lived there fifty-three years. Since May, 1920, he has made his home with the Turners in Glendale.

He recalls coming to Glendale thirty-five years ago to visit his friend, J. C. Sherer, and tells of shooting rabbits and quail en route.

Lost Suitcase Contained Mother's, Boy's Clothes

The loss of a suitcase containing all the wearing apparel of herself and her six-year old son has been reported to the Glendale police department by Mrs. E. M. Smith, 15 Breidt street, Tujunga, who wishes to recover the suitcase and its contents.

Mrs. Smith has been informed by residents in the vicinity of Alpha street, on the Verdugo road, that the suitcase was picked up by a passing motorist within a few minutes after it had fallen from the car in which she was riding, but as far as she has yet been able to learn the finder has not turned the property over to the authorities.

Mrs. Smith is advertising in the classified columns of The Glendale Evening News for her lost suitcase, asking that it be delivered at this office.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2. In Pacific waters today, according to wireless messages picked up here.

The Shenko Maru, a Japanese steamer en route from Portland porting she was drifting helplessly in northern waters following the breaking of her crankshaft.

The steam schooner Elizabeth went hard aground near Bandon, Ore. The coast guard station there removed the twenty-two persons aboard, including two women passengers, despite an extremely heavy sea that was running.

Rush to Ship's Aid

PORTLAND, Nov. 2.—The Algonquin is hurrying to the assistance of the disabled Japanese steamer Shenko Maru and will likely reach her this afternoon, according to word received here by the Federal Telegraph company.

The steamer Elizabeth will probably be cleared from her position on the jetty near Bandon, Ore., early today, reports received here indicated. The little craft is reported in no danger.

Gold Hunting Party Halted by Wreck

SEATTLE, Nov. 2.—Captain Nicholas Burgeson, master of the ill-fated gold-seeking ship Fred B. Wood, is here today in advance of the arrival of the Buford, which vessel will dock here next Thursday en route to San Francisco with a large party of disappointed fortune hunters on board.

The individuals and families raised $800 each in what was to be a gold-seeking expedition on the co-operation plan. A. H. Moore of Los Angeles, head of the expedition, told his prospects that he had 5,000 acres of gold-bearing sands in Alaska, and with a dredge could handle enough pay dirt to realize $40,000 a day.

On September 27, Captain Burgeson relates, the little fortune ship was anchored two miles from its expected eldorado, near Port Clarence bay, when an eight-mile (Continued on Page 7)

MRS. STOKES OUTWITS COUNSEL

Brilliant Attorney Unable to Shake Defendant in 3-
Hour Grilling

By JACK CARBERRY
For International News Service
NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Smiling triumphantly, Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, titian-haired defendant in the sensational Stokes divorce trial, stepped from the witness stand this afternoon with flying colors after undergoing three hours of severe cross-examination.

She had time and again crossed words and matched repartee with Max Steuer, her millionaire husband's attorney, and, although Steuer is regarded as one of New York's cleverest cross-examining attorneys, she never came out second best.

She proved to be a splendid witness for herself, at best under fire.

Mrs. Stokes refused time and time again to admit that before her marriage she was intimate with Edgar T. Wallace, the correspondent. Wallace is a San Francisco oil promoter.

Brings Craft to Bear

Steuer, cross-examining Mrs. Stokes, pacing up and down in front of the witness, used every trick known to the legal trade in the duel of wits with the witness.

"Isn't it true," Steuer shot at her, "that the very moment you married Stokes you regretted your action."

"Not that very day, but from the very first of my married life, I was unhappy," Mrs. Stokes answered.

Steuer jumped to the period of 1917. On February 18, of that year, Mrs. Stokes left her husband when, she alleged, she received a beating. She returned to her husband on October 31, 1917, however.

Returned to Husband

She testified today that she returned to Stokes after he promised that he "would change his ways."

"Where were you New Year's, 1917?" Steuer asked suddenly.

"With Mr. Stokes," she replied unhesitatingly. "I spent each New Year with my husband from (Continued on Page 3)

Hello, Central! Give Us Line on Your Dance

"Number, please!"
"Hello, Central! Give me a line on a dance in Glendale Saturday night."
"Just hold the line till Saturday night—there'll be a telephone operators' benefit dance at Pearl Keller's studio, 140 North Brand boulevard."

"Uh Huh!"
"Nine o'clock—good lively music!"
"What?"
"I said dance with your favorite operator."
"Suits me. How about the first dance?"
"Just hold the line. Information will answer in just a minute!"

BUYERS SNAP UP BENEFIT TICKETS

Auditorium's Seating Capacity Nearly Exhausted
by Rush of Purchasers

Many people planning to attend the all-star entertainment to be given on the night of November 6 at the Tuesday Afternoon club auditorium for the benefit of the families of Clarence Edwards and Joseph W. McGahan, who lost their lives fighting fire, will be disappointed if they have not already reserved their tickets. All of which is one way of announcing that the limited supply of tickets is running short and it looks like the pastebards will be at a premium.

Some of the most noted stars on screen and stage will be on the program, and as there are less than 800 seats in the auditorium, and as the ticket sale will stop as soon as the seats are taken, many folks are going to be on the outside looking in unless they step up at once and buy.

The Glendale Evening News has exhausted two supplies of tickets and today began the sale of its third allotment. The seats sell for $5 each. Come early, folks, and avoid the rush.

Following is a list of those who have purchased one or more of the (Continued on Page 8)

City Manager Assists Cam to Find Himself

"Cam" Thom can find his way home in the dark, alright, but when it comes to giving his home address, that's another matter.

"Cam" paid a visit this morning to City Manager W. H. Reeves to register a strenuous protest because his garbage was not collected regularly. The City Manager very obligingly promised to look into the matter and in order that the right man might be called on the carpet, asked Cam where he lived.

"Why, I don't know," replied Cam, "165 North Isabel, I think it is."

Now Bill Reeves knows a lot about this town, and he was certain Cam was wrong, and told him so. After a hurried search in the directory the correct number was discovered to be 303, and not 165.

Cam is busy explaining why he didn't know his own street number.

PARDON AFTER 26 YEARS

HALLOWKIWANIS NIGHT PROVES HUGE SUCCESS WITH OVER 2000 IN LINE

Event Should Be Staged Next Year Everyone Agrees After Glorious Celebration Which
Overwhelms Plans Of Club

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of the Evening News Staff

Glendale flared with color last night, and the spirit of carnival walked abroad in the land, as 2100 Glendale kiddies, gaily costumed, marched from Harvard street north to Wilson avenue, on Brand Boulevard, to the martial strains of a composite band, and back down the boulevard to Colorado street, between dense masses of pedestrians, the long procession led by an official car in which rode William Bode, grand marshal and chief Hallowkiwanian, and A. L. Ferguson, vice principal of the Glendale Union High school and president of the local Kiwanis club, sponsors of the parade.

"Overwhelming" is the word Mr. Bode used this morning in describing the success of the demonstration. "We had counted on a maximum of 1500 children in the parade. When 2100 turned up, we were fairly staggered."

Costumes Wonderful

"And those costumes! They were simply great. The judges found so many exceptional ones that it was difficult, indeed, to award the prizes. We certainly want to thank the parents of Glendale for their consideration in making this thing a success. It just shows what wonderful results can be accomplished by community organization."

"We also want to thank most heartily the city officials and police for their co-operation in handling the traffic and in other ways smoothing the path for the parade. Everything went off like clockwork, due to their efforts."

The red torches of the seven Kiwanians moving along the sides of the parade, and their white cockade hats, added color to the brilliant files of color passing by. Several have taken an affair been staged on the Pacific coast. It assumed the proportions of the famous annual Baby Parade in Asbury Park, N. J., or of New Orleans' Mardi Gras.

Good Advertising Idea

Such an event, perpetuated, could have the power to advertise Glendale the length and breadth of the land.

The atmosphere was rich, vivid, intense, the very soul of autumn; and there was a chill on the night air that served to drive home the impression. One's mind ran riot with colorful fancies—"The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," headless horsemen, pumpkins hoary with frost, an orange harvest moon rising above ghostly corn-shocks in a field of spary stubble."

"My husband was bitterly opposed to this," one woman was heard to say to another.

"I was against it, but John said, 'Oh, let him have his fun! and so—look! There he goes!'"

5000 In Line Next Year

Next year the Hallowkiwanis parade will bring 5000 costumed children out in a monster demonstration that will echo all over the country, is the sentiment heard this morning, and all opposition has vanished. Next year those who stood on the sidelines will be paraders—and the sidelines will be occupied by the rest of the United States, perhaps!

Barney Google was on the line, and Old Mother Hubbard, Krazy Kat, a Pair of Little Red Devils, Pajama Girls, Masked Men, Molly the Monk, Green Frogs, Pumpkins—one kiddie was costumed to represent the cheese that goes with the pumpkin pie!

A man dressed as a woman, strolling down Brand boulevard smoking a cigar, caused a near riot. A tiny, tiny tot, all legs and arms and pumpkin, and fully as brave as she (or he) was high, came near staging a balloon ascension when caught in an eddy of wind near the corner of Brand and Harvard.

Oh, it was all gorgeous, scrumptious fun, and everyone is keyed (Continued on Page 7)

KIWANIS LAUNCH 'VISIT' CONTEST

Get Acquainted Plan Put Before Luncheon Club
at Noon Meeting

Glendale's Kiwanis club at its weekly luncheon at the Tuesday Afternoon club today launched a visiting contest, the aim of which is to permit the members to become better acquainted with one another. The contest will last until December 7 and will be under the supervision of Dr. C. W. Taylor.

The club is divided into two divisions, which have been called the Lightning and Thunder, with Eugene Gordon managing the Lightning division and "Tot" Totman the Thunder division.

Each division is composed of four teams, the Lightning captains of teams being W. A. Bode, Frank Echols, Frank Fox and E. P. Hayward. The Thunder captains are Elwood Ingledue, Herman Nelson, Jesse E. Smith and W. L. Truitt.

Attendance prizes were won by R. W. Conkling, Ray Bentley and J. P. Lockhart.

Rev. C. M. Calderwood urged the members to aid in the fund benefit to the limit of their ability.

City Gets Good Water Well at Grand View

City Manager W. H. Reeves made an official test this morning of the new well recently brought in by the city water department at the corner of San Fernando road and Grandview avenue, and his report is very gratifying.

The test shows that the well at the present time has a capacity of 2400 to 2700 gallons of water per minute, or over 300 inches. This makes it one of the best wells in Glendale, in fact, in the southern part of the state, and relieves the city officials from worry relative to an adequate water supply for the increased population of Glendale next summer.

It is not expected that the well will be required this winter.

Water was struck at a depth of 500 feet, and rises to within 37 feet of the surface, which is indeed remarkable for this locality.

Ehmke and Herman in Glendale Uniform

The two Meusel brothers "Bob" and "Irish," Stutz, Sand, Mike Donlin, Babe Herman, O'Brien, Thurston and Howard Ehmke will be in Glendale uniforms Saturday when Manager Kerwin's outfit takes on Billy McCabe's barnstorming Angels at the Pacific Coast league at Washington Park, Los Angeles.

SOCIAL EVENTSDance Success

The fancy-dress dance and masquerade given last night at the K. P. hall by the Glendale Canadian club proved to be an unusually gay and enjoyable affair.

The hall had been artistically decorated for the occasion with harvest time decorations consisting of branches of autumn foliage, smiling pumpkin faces and other Halloween decorations.

At a table, bear refreshments were served by the committee in charge which included Mr. and
Mrs. W. Western, Mr. and Mrs.
Hugh Allan, Mr. and Mrs. O. L.
Richards.

Most of the guests present were costumed for the affair, adding a colorful effect to the scene which was altogether delightful.

Music for the dancing was furnished by Kelly's six-piece orchestra. During the evening Halloween favors were presented to the 160 dancers.

quet will follow.

DEATHS—FUNERALSGEORGE L. PERSON

George L. Person, aged 42, passed away at his home, 2150
Kenneth road, Glendale, Monday,
October 31, 1923, after a lingering illness that had kept him confined to his bed for the past three months.

Surviving Mr. Person is his widow and eight children, Mary,
aged 16; Hartley, 14; Joy, 12;
George, 10; James, 8; Lorne, 6;
Victor, 3, and the baby, Douglas,
5 months. His father and mother,
Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Person, 2150
Kenneth road, and two sisters,
Mrs. W. H. Gage and Mrs. Hamilton Brown, both of whom live in Glendale.

Mr. Person came to Glendale
three years ago from Hamilton,
Ontario, Canada.
Funeral services will be held at Grand View Memorial park chapel at 3 o'clock, Saturday, November 3, 1923, by Rev. W. E.
Edmonds, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of which Mr. Person was a member.

The L. G. Seavern company will have charge of the arrangements.

P. G. BOYD

Announcement was made this morning that there would be no inquest held in the death of P. G.
Boyd of 3937 Revere avenue, Los Angeles, Wednesday afternoon, following injuries received in an accident Wednesday morning on San Fernando road.

The accident occurred when Mr.
Boyd swerved out to avoid striking another machine. Since there was no collision between two cars and no one else was injured, the inquest was not held, because Mr.
Boyd's injuries and death were declared purely accidental.

Funeral services will be held
Saturday afternoon, November 3, 1923, the time and place to be announced at the morning service
tomorrow at the Seventh Day Adventist church.

The L. G. Seavern Undertaking company is in charge of arrangements.

MRS. SARAH W. STARR

Mrs. Sarah W. Starr, aged 63, a resident of 1051 East Twenty-first street, Los Angeles, died at a local hospital, Thursday, November 1, 1923.

Mrs. Starr has been a resident of this state for twenty-two years.
She is survived by her husband,
W. H. Starr, two daughters, Ethel
N. Starr and Mrs. Alice M. William.

Funeral services will be held at the Little Church of the Flowers,
Forest Lawn, at 2 o'clock, Saturday, November 3. Kiefer and Eyerick are in charge.

WILLIAM WELLER

William Weller of 645 East
Ninth street, Long Beach, father of Assemblyman Frank C. Weller of Glendale, passed away at his home, 645 o'clock, Thursday night, November 1, 1923, at the age of 69 years.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nellie Weller, and four children: Mrs. Will Bangs of Fairfield, Ia., Ernest Weller of Oklahoma City, Okla., Curtis
Weller of Atlantic, Ia., and Attorney Frank C. Weller of Glendale.

Funeral services will be held at
2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon,
November 3, at the funeral parlors of Patterson & McQuillen,
555 Locust avenue, Long Beach.

William Weller was a native of New London, Ia., and had been a resident of Long Beach for fourteen years.

RALPH HUTCHINS

The funeral of Ralph Hutchins,
aged 23, of 2322 Childs avenue,
who was killed in a motor accident at Doran street and Glendale avenue Monday afternoon, was held this afternoon, at the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn. Kiefer & Eyerick were in charge.

Fathers' Night

Fathers' Night will be celebrated at Wilson Avenue school next Monday night, November 5.

The entertainment for the evening will be under the direction of Mrs. E. B. Wyman, chairman of programs, and will include the following interesting features:
flag salute, followed by community singing directed by R. Ernest
Tucker, secretary of Community Service. Charles Merrill, acting principal of Wilson Avenue school will talk on the relation of parents to teachers. There will be vocal selections by Mr. Myron Carmen of the Cavanah School of Music, and numbers by the Wilson
School orchestra, directed by Miss
Elsa Brennaman, of the city schools.

Following the program the fathers will be initiated into the social life of the P. T. A. and welcomed by the teachers, the primary object being to promote cooperation and good-fellowship.

P. E. O. Hostess

Chapter C. J. P. E. O. met all day yesterday at the home of Mrs.
Luella Bocock, 333 West Patterson avenue. Mesdames Roy Kent and C. N. Onstott were assisting hostesses.

Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, president, was in charge of the business session, and greeted as guests, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett and Mrs. C. D. Lushy of Chapter L, and Mrs. Cress of Chapter B.

In the afternoon after lunch the first chapter of the chapter's serial story was read. Mrs. J. T.
Crampton was the authoress and the chapter was read by Mrs. D.
W. Porter because Mrs. Crampton was unable to be present because of illness.

The women enjoyed a talk on the educational fund by Dr. Laura
Brown and two readings by Mrs.
Willis Kimball.

There were seventy articles donated for the Glendale Welfare council.

Beloved Characters Seen in 'Mrs. Wiggs'

Everybody loves Mrs. Wiggs with her cheerful, optimistic philosophy. Everybody loves Miss Hazy, too, though they have to laugh at her. The three Wiggs girls with their geographical names, Asia, Europa and Australia; Mrs. Schultz, the big, fat woman with her comic, "Ain't it? Don't it?" Mrs. Elchorn, the thin, sharp-tongued, narrow-minded neighbor; "Little Tommy" and "Lovey Mary," both friendless and motherless—all the characters so dear to the public will be represented on Friday and Saturday nights at 8:15, by the Glendale Community Players, in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Those taking part are: Mrs. Adeline Wheeler Bradley, Mrs. Fannie Stockbridge, Mrs. Edith Boyden Holway, Mildred McCoubrey, Almina Bullock, Nell Few, Lois Whiteman, Dorothy Woods, Mrs. Evelyn West, Edith Kelly, Margaret Campbell, Katherine Meade, Margaret Graham, Ruth Fekler, Catherine Henry, Evelyn Molz, Joseph Taylor, Guy Lunt, Melvin West, and the Messrs. J. B. Clarke, Ray Stinson, Ed Schockley, Cyril Holway, R. W. Barnes, Chas. Garman, A. E. McCoubrey, Geo. Reddinger, L. W. Bradley, Irvin Bullock, Director, Nanno Woods; art director, Robert Stevenson; stage manager, Bill Boyden; musicians, Mrs. H. C. Fittinger, Corinne Fittinger, Earl Fittinger.

Mrs. Stokes Baffles Husband's Attorney

the time we were married until our separation." Her husband's attorney shifted his questioning to the co-respondent. He asked the witness if Mrs. Stokes was in "easy access" to Wallace's apartment.

"Don't use that term—'easy access,'" warned Justice Mahoney. "Ask the witness where she was."

"I was always at my husband's home, the Ansonia hotel," Mrs. Stokes said.

Witness Scores
"Do you know that in October, 1918, Mr. Wallace—" Steuer started to say.

"I know nothing about Mr. Wallace in 1918," interrupted Mrs. Stokes.

Many women in the courtroom nodded approvingly.

"Or any year after 1919," Mrs. Stokes followed up quickly.

Stokes turned to his attorney and whispered something. Steuer suddenly changed his line of questioning. He asked Mrs. Stokes if she saw any of the witnesses who testified for Stokes as seeing her at Wallace's flat.

"I was never in Wallace's flat and I never saw any of the witnesses and they never saw me," she replied.

G. O. P. to Pick City for 1924 Convention

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—John T. Adams, chairman of the Republican national committee, suggested today in a letter to President Coolidge that a meeting of the committee be held in Washington on December 1 and 2 to select next year's convention city, to discuss other problems of party organization and finance.

A meeting of a sub-committee of the national committee will be held here on November 15 to receive applications of cities which desire to entertain the 1924 nominating convention.

The December dates were approved by President Coolidge at a conference at the White House this morning with Chairman Adams. The formal call for the meeting will go out about the middle of this month.

Adams said that Chicago was most favorably considered as the convention city but that bids were also being considered from Cleveland, Denver and San Francisco. "Reasonable" hotel rates will be one of the chief demands of the national committee in making its selection, Adams declared.

Giant Soviet Parade in Moscow on Nov. 7

WARSAW, Nov. 2.—Commis-sar for War Trotsky has issued a manifesto to the red army and navy declaring that the achievements of the revolution have been endangered by the present European situation, according to a dispatch from Moscow. Trotsky announced that a grand demonstration would be made November 7, to show that the peacefully minded Soviet government is firmly decided to defend that which they have achieved and demonstrate the ardent sympathies of the Russian workers for the other workmen throughout the world.

Reopen Naturalization Fraud Case in North

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Halting the arguments in the case of Frederick N. Littleton, former United States naturalization examiner, charged with wholesale fraudulent naturalization of aliens, Assistant District Attorney G. L. Pink has secured permission of the court to re-open the case and place on the stand Justice of the Peace A. H. McKinnon of El Centro, Contra Costa county.

McKinnon, a defense witness, on the stand, said he had been "too positive" in his previous testimony in behalf of Littleton and qualified many of the statements he had made on the stand on his first appearance.

The British government plans to require retail dealers in poisons to color them to prevent persons swallowing them in mistake for smaller appearing medicines.

THE GLENDALE

"The French Doll" concludes its run at the Glendale Theatre tonight. Produced by Robert Z. Leonard and distributed by Metro, this spicy tale adapted from a popular French play offers chic Mae Murray the most piquant role of her career.

The story fairly bubbles with laughter from first to last, and tells at the same time a love tale that at moments reaches the dramatic. It concerns the efforts of unscrupulous parents to use their daughter to help them sell spurious French antiques to wealthy Americans. Miss Murray reveals much in this picture, among other things the fact that she is an actress of rare personality and charm.

There is a preview at the Glendale Theatre tonight, announces Manager William A. Howe, the title "A Ratling Romance." "It's a five-reel comedy, and, says the management, 'the wise will be early.'"

Action Deferred on Widening of Central

Action in the matter of widening Central avenue was deferred for two weeks by the City Council at their regular meeting last evening.

A protest against this proposition has been filed with the city clerk, bearing signatures of 42.4 per cent of the property owners affected. A public hearing for those who favor or oppose the project will be held November 15.

THE GATEWAY

Rex Beach's immortal story of the Klondike gold rush, "The Spoilers," opened at the Gateway Theatre last night before an enthusiastic audience. It continues tonight and tomorrow night. Ten years ago Colonel Selig put this mighty drama of the north on the screen and it was accredited one of the greatest films ever made. Today Jesse D. Hampton brings it back to the screen through Goldwyn, bigger, stronger, more spectacular than ever, remade entirely, with one of the most monumental casts ever assembled for a photodrama.

This great cast includes Milton Sills, Barbara Bedford, Anna Q. Nilsson, Noah Beery, Robert Edeson, Mitchell Lewis, Wallace MacDonald, Ford Sterling, Robert Kim, Sam de Grasse, John Elliott, Louis Fazenda, Kate Price, Rockcliffe Fellows, Gordon Russell, Albert Roscoe, Tom McGuire and Jack Curtis.

The picture was directed by Lambert Hillyer, who swung the megaphone on many of William S. Hart's greatest films.

Property Owners Ask Paving on Justin Ave.

A petition was presented to the City Council Thursday night requesting the paving of Justin avenue, between Fourth street and Glenwood road, with three-inch macadam. It was signed by 68.8 per cent of the property holders. The matter was referred to the city engineer for investigation and report.

Tomorrow you will know.

STOCK AND BOND FIRM IS OPENED

H. M. Bennett Will Install Ticker Service for Glendale Patrons

Announcement by H. M. Bennett of the opening Saturday, November 3, of his stock and bond issue house at 600 South Brand boulevard, brings to Glendale its first direct connection with eastern exchanges.

Ticker service will be installed as soon as the promised loop goes in, which, according to Mr. Bennett, should be within a month. The new office, located in an unlisted building, is a big benefit to local people who heretofore have had no close-at-hand market for this class of collateral.

Money will also be available on short term loans on listed and unlisted securities. Mr. Bennett states, and his office is in a position to execute orders and furnish quotations on all exchanges.

A pioneer in the stock and bond business in Los Angeles, coming there twenty years ago, from New York, H. M. Bennett is now a pioneer in Glendale in this line of business, with an establishment said to be the equal of any in California, aside from Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Recalls Pioneers

Durnig 1905 and 1906 Mr. Bennett was located in the Henry Huntington building, now known as the Pacific Electric building, where he was regarded as one of the largest brokers on the coast. He can recall the names of all stock and bond salesmen working out of Los Angeles at that time, a grand total of nine. Today there are 9000, he says.

Mr. Bennett was associated in the building and loan, as well as mortgage loan business, at that time, and also had banking facilities. For the past few years he has been located in the Pacific Mutual building, where he has carried on an extensive mortgage loan and banking business.

After selling out, he has May on account of the fact that Mr. Bennett after taking a long rest and thoroughly looking over the field for location of such an institution as he has now established at 600 South Brand boulevard, chose Glendale, where he has lived for the past three years, being fully convinced that nowhere else in California were conditions more favorable for the founding of a high class stock and bond house.

Former Crown Prince Returning to Estate

MILAN, Nov. 2.—The Berlin government has given permission to the former crown prince to return to his estates in Silesia on condition the trip is kept secret, to avoid political demonstrations, according to a confidential report received here.

Wilhelm, in his request to Berlin said he merely wished to return to Germany to rejoin his family and live as a private citizen.

Will Address Legion on 'Americanization'

Legionnaires and members of the women's auxiliaries in Eagle Rock, Tujunga and Glendale are to meet in the Legion hall on East Broadway Monday night for a big jollification and to greet Mrs. Bertha Dobbin of Long Beach, district chairman of Americanization, who will speak on "Americanization Work."

The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock and in addition to Mrs. Dobbin's address there will be music and a social hour.

BEARS AND NEVADA TANGLE SATURDAY

California Has Something to Think About in U. S. C. Game

BERKELEY, Nov. 2.—On Saturday, November 3, the Bruins meet Nevada. The following week they will meet the University of Southern California.

Andy Smith is sure to put his team through a grueling and intensive training during this period. There are many rough points to polish off. California is not going into a game with the Bruins with the idea that the opposition is to be taken lightly.

Dopers have figured that the Washington state college game would be an easy affair, but the score shows the truth.

You Never Can Tell
Nevada has not been heralded as a phenomenal team, but "you never can tell."

The University of Washington team is the team that California looks forward to for the hardest fight of the season. Coach Bagshaw has a powerful team of husky proportions, and the institution is looking forward to this game.

The U. S. C. came on November 10 is creating comment, for together with the Bruins, the feeling on both sides, there is the additional factor of U. S. C.'s showing against Stanford. California has something to think about.

The Los Angeles alumni banquet, California-U. S. C. game, November 16, will be held at the Hotel Alexandria instead of the Hotel Biltmore, as originally planned. Reservations up to 500 will be received both in Los Angeles and at the Berkeley office of the Alumni association. The banquet hall will hold only 500 persons and reservations will absolutely close when that number has been reached. The price of the tickets will be $2.50.

Occidental and Whittier Clash

Quaker Lads' Silent Signals Working Well, Other Teams Sadly Learn

By LARRY RAYMOND
Written for The Evening News

Occidental college football team journeys to the Quaker city tomorrow afternoon and takes on the Whittier eleven in the second conference game of the season. Whittier team has lost a game, and the winner of tomorrow's contest will undoubtedly win the conference this season.

Catelec and S. B. U. C. have already suffered from the "Howling Thousand" at Whittier. The Redlands Bulldogs got a taste of Oxy blood at the zero end of a 33-to-0 score. Oxy will have to hang onto the oval and forget fumbling or they will meet their downfall in the person of Captain Johns, quarterback of no mean ability, who encourages fumbles in order that he may pick them up and scout around the ends for touchdowns.

Good Machine
Whittier is boasting of the best machine they have ever had. With Suggest back in the game, things are at a high pitch over in the city of Quakers. Freshmen are eligible for varsity competition at the Quaker institution, and several monstrous frosh are attending varsity practice.

Occidental will be without the services of Gordon Shoaf and McDonald. Shoaf has a sprained ankle and McDonald has a broken leg. Neither will get into the conflict. The student body of Oxy is going down to Whittier 100 percent and turn the trick, if it can. Oxy, with a speedier, swifter, smoother machine, is the favorite. However, the silent signal system of the Quakers has baffled everyone. It works and works well.

Coach Tufty, and Conn, and his husky frosh warriors left this morning for the north, where they will meet the Dinuba High school eleven tomorrow afternoon in a return game. Both elevens are peppy and possess lots of fight. The Quakers have baffled everyone over their defeat when they came south. In the first battle Oxy Peagreeners won, 19 to 0.

Wells, star fullback of the Tiger babes, is relied upon for most of the gains and touchdowns. With Teachout and Godet on the wings, little is feared from Dinuba in the way of aerial attack. The Oxy team is slightly heavier, and is considered the favorite.

Plaster Figures Clothied in Smiles Cause of Protest

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 2.—All is serene down Alder street in the business center for now. The five female figures clothed only in smiles which adorned the facade of a two-story building under construction and over which a storm of protest arose were duly hidden from the view of the curious who thronged the street during the noon hour.

"Honi soit qui mal y pense"—"Evil to him who evil thinks"—was inscribed on the canvas which covered the figures as the answer of the building owner to all who would blame and immorality in his "works of art."

The city council viewed the plaster figures and decided they might be all right in any other place except on the exterior of a downtown building. The owner has agreed to remove them entirely in "respect to the protests of women of Portland."

Judges of Affair

The judges were A. L. Baird, David Greag and Fred Deal with Frank Echols and assistant. Selecting prospective prize winners, at the stand in front of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company building.

Prizes were awarded at the Glendale Union high school athletic field by Ray L. Galvin and assistants, where a big celebration was held following the parade. Refreshments of apples, doughnuts and "Comal" were served and the affair ended with two cage-ball contests, followed by a display of fireworks.

Results of the cage-ball contests gave victory to the Sophomores over Freshmen by a close margin, reports Coach Normal Hurst, of the Glendale Union high school, and allowed the Wilson Avenue intermediates to triumph over the Glendale Avenue intermediates.

Candy for Winners

Each of the winning teams were donated two boxes of two-pound boxes of Kaighn's chocolates, one for each member. Full lists of all donors of prizes have been published previously in The Evening News.

Great praise is due the Kiwanis club for the mastery way they organized and put across this monster parade of children. The result is a brilliant memory that will live long in the minds of Glendadians.

Dr. C. E. Thompson in Lawson Block Here

Dr. C. E. Thompson, a graduate of the dental college, University of Southern California, and a graduate of the Dewey School of Orthodontia, New York, N. Y., has opened up offices at 312 Lawson building as an orthodontist, and will specialize in the straightening of teeth.

EAGLE ROCK $273,917 SUM OF MONTH'S PERMITS

October Shows Falling Off From September Totals, Deputy Reports.

Eagle Rock building permits for October totaled $273,917, just $2,583 short of the $276,000 record for September, reports Donald G. Montgomery, deputy clerk.

The largest single permit issued during the month was for $65,000, to J. B. Brown & Co. of 117 South Central avenue, for the two-story bank, store, office and apartment building now under construction at the corner of Central avenue and Myrtle street.

Other large permits issued during October include one for $40,000, covering the erection of stores and apartments on Colorado boulevard between Douglas and Ellis avenues, and one for $23,290, covering an apartment house going up on Central avenue just north of Colorado boulevard.

With monthly construction running around the quarter-million mark, Eagle Rock can be said to have passed into the beginning of a new phase in its history.

Work for Glendale Shows

The Chamber of Commerce and Women's Twentieth Century club are actively pushing the sale of tickets for the big benefit performance at the Tuesday afternoon club, on Tuesday, November 6, when eighteen famous film stars will appear in person to swell the fund being raised for the families of Clarence Edwards and Joseph W. McGahan, fire fighters who lost their lives in the blaze that recently menaced the two communities.

These men gave their lives just as much to Eagle Rock as to Glendale, local residents feel, and they are backing up their feelings with good cold cash to the tune of $5 per ticket. When the curtain rises at 8:15 o'clock Tuesday night, in Glendale's newest and finest clubhouse, several score of loyal people from this community will be present, pledges Mrs. A. G. Reilly, president of the Women's Twentieth Century club.

Chancellor Jordan Speaks

A number of Eagle Rock women heard the well-known educator, David Starr Jordan, chancellor of Stanford university, speak at Occidental college Wednesday morning, October 21, on "How to Prevent War."

The Chancellor's solution is education. The Chancellor Jordan declared, "We must start with the children and train them up through the grammar grades, high school and college to abhor war and to refuse to tolerate its mention."

Chancellor Jordan startled his audience by declaring this precise step was now being taken in Japan. Those who had long entertained just the opposite idea were surprised to hear him say that a recent trip to that country had shown him the Japanese did not seek war and were training their children to repel the thought of it.

Tanker Damaged in Crash With Warship

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Preliminary examinations made today are reported to have shown that the huge tanker S. C. T. Dodd was damaged to the extent of more than $100,000 when it was crushed against the battleship New Mexico by a powerful rip tide last night at the mouth of the harbor here. The damage to the dreadnaught is estimated at $3000.

The tanker, loaded with 60,000 barrels of oil for San Francisco, was under way on a swift current sweep. It was in the bow-on into the fighting craft. Several plates on the starboard bow of the battleship were crushed by the impact, while the Dodd limped back into port with its bow caved in.

Light Wires Disturb Horace Hosford Radio

Horace Hosford, 233 North Central avenue, appeared before the City Council last evening and complained that the municipal electric light wires which were strung across the property adjoining his residence interfered with his wireless aerial.

The council took no official action in the matter, referring it to Superintendent of Plant Production Diederich, in the hope that the evening concerts might not be interrupted.

Mr. Diederich states that in time we may have to put all our service lines in conduits, as the number of aerials going up is amazing.

Four Held at Chicago in Counterfeit Plot

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Four men, who, federal secret service operatives say, have flooded a dozen different cities between New York and Denver with spurious $20 bills, were held here while engravers of fully $100,000 worth of the alleged currency were sought in what secret service operatives believe is a counterfeiting plot of nation-wide proportions.

$60,000 BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED

November Totals Will Reach
Million Dollar Class,
Is Prediction

November was ushered in by the granting of building permits to the total of $59,925 at the office of Building Superintendent H. C. Vandewater. This swells the amount for the year to $8,171,362.

If this record is maintained for the balance of the month, Glendale will undoubtedly get into the "million-dollar class" for November.

were decorated with Halloween colors and all the guests were in costume.

They were entertained the early part of the evening with thrilling ghost stories by the hostess. In competitive games, Laura Cutter won first prize for pinning the tail on a cat. Mary Smith was successful in throwing the most jelly beans in the cat's mouth. Light refreshments were served.

Those present were Catherine Doll, Catherine Perry, Elizabeth and Josephine Moore, Alice Brennan, Betty Phillips, Laura Cutter, Dixie Lane, Virginia Farrow, Dorothy Clark, Mary Smith, Catherine Henry, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Henry.

Colorado P.-T. A.

The November meeting of the Colorado street P.-T. A. of which Mrs. S. L. Gillan is president, was held Thursday afternoon with a social hour preceding the entertaining program. Leading features were an instructive address by Miss Cave of Alhambra on the subject "The P.-T. A., Its Object and Ideals" and an informal talk by Superintendent Richardson D. White, on "Education in Former Times and Today." He emphasized its cost, as one of the problems of the times, and also spoke briefly on the Springfield test. Mrs. Frank Arnold sang two beautiful vocal selections. "All for You" and "The Tree".

Forty-five members were present and three rooms tied in the greatest percentage count, for which the prize is a new phonograph record, to be selected by the pupils of the winning room.

A vote was taken deciding to present records to the three rooms of which the teachers are the Misses Waite, Zweifel and Fambrough.

The room was gaily decorated with Halloween colors, each one present receiving a dainty favor and refreshments were served by the room's mothers.

Announcement was made that the annual fathers' night would be celebrated the first Friday in December.

Lowest temperature ever reached is 458 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, recently attained at the University of Leyden, Holland, in an unsuccessful attempt to freeze helium.

CLUBWOMEN SEE ART OF ETCHING

Mrs. J. W. Cotton Talks to Thursday Organization
at Bancroft Home

In the absence of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, program chairman of the Thursday Afternoon club, Mrs. J. W. Cotton, publicity chairman arranged a very delightful program Thursday afternoon, presenting Mrs. John W. Cotton, Glendale musician and artist who spoke on "The Art of Etching."

The walls of the Bancroft home were hung with etchings by John W. Cotton, the well known artist, and the beautiful exhibit was much enjoyed by the members of the club.

Mrs. Cotton in a brief half hour gave in a very plain and easily understood way a description of what is a very technical process. Mention was made of the earliest etching on broadsword in the thirteenth century from which the first prints were made, and a comparison between steel engravings, wood block printing, and etching was drawn by the speaker.

Shows Numerous Prints
Early etchers were Durer, in 1500; Rembrandt later and the modern Whistler and Zorn.

Some beautiful, etched copper plates and a number of prints by Mr. Cotton were passed around by the speaker for closer inspection.

Mrs. E. V. Bacon, president of the club, presided during the business session. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Miss Eva Daniels, and approved.

Announcement was made that the next meeting will be held at K. P. hall the third Thursday of the month and will be in charge of the new arts and crafts section.

Aid Children's Hospital
Announcement of collection of salvage for the children's hospital was announced by Mrs. E. J. Morgan, president of the Glendale Auxiliary to the society.

Delicious fruit punch and wafers were served by the hostesses of the day, Mesdames J. W. Ashton, S. D. Goodrich, S. E. Brown, W. H. Bullis and Mrs. McNaughton Barnes.

Sophomore Classmen Mimic Movie Stars

Arrangements have been completed for the Sophomore class party of the Glendale Union High school which will be held in the girls' gymnasium Friday evening, November 9.

All the famous stars of movie land will be there in mimicry, and a prize will be given for the best representation of any well-known film artist.

Later in the evening the class will adjourn to the auditorium for a program, after which refreshments will be served. The class is being assisted on this occasion by the class advisers of this group, with Miss Monroe and Mr. Fullen in charge.

Mexicans buy most of their novelties, such as amber beads, cigarette holders, vanity cases and the like from France, Germany or Austria.

Extra, Xandu Zantippe's Nose And Xcellente's Pinanna Both Busted by Xcrucius

Xtra! Xtra! Little Xandu's nose is broken. While flying high over Glendale last night a large stork bearing an eight pound baby boy got tangled in the Zantippe chimney—with the result that Professor Xavius Zantippe is now rocking the cradle that rules the world.

After consulting the family records, the Lydia Pinkham almanac and Hoyle, the newest arrival in the Zantippe household has been christened Xcrucius, after his paternal grandson on his nephew's side.

"Xcrucius will be president," this morning said Mrs. Z., who is doing quite nicely, thank you. "I can tell by the way he parts his hair. And then again, he has such a bored, distinguished look. Only presidents and movie stars have that look, and little Xcrucius won't be a movie star because he takes after his father, and his father never had the looks of the family."

Professor Is Cynical
"And his mother never had the brains!" whipped in the learned professor, munching a dainty lettuce sandwich as he gently rocked the cradle. "Personally I wouldn't be surprised if little Xcrucius turned out a burglar, with a name like that!"

Just then Xcellente began practicing the voice (she insists on saying it that way) and presently little Xcrucius began chirping to somebody in the next block.

Considerate Man
"It's all right muttered Professor Zantippe, stuffing cotton in his ears and gritting his teeth. "But what will the neighbors say?"

"Well, we're zoned for business, ain't we?" demanded his loving wife with that little tender way she has. "I guess we don't make no more noise than that sawmill across the street."

Presently little Xandu, who had been playing soldier with little Willie Winkelbaumgartenspotenheiser, the next-door neighbor child, came dashing in.

"Quick, pa!" he shrieked, "get the chips off the table! We're raided!"

Alas, his words were only too true. The door bell rang. Hiding little Xcrucius in the clothes-dress Professor Zantippe dashed to the door. One look was sufficient. There stood about a dozen policemen, all ready for business.

Officers File in
He opened the door in fear and trembling, and all that sort of

John A. Martin Guesses Pumpkin Weight Exactly

John A. Martin won a gas stove for his ability to guess the weight of a pumpkin which graced the window of Cornwell & Kelly's hardware store, 107 South Brand boulevard, according to an announcement of prizes today.

Mr. Martin called the weight to an ounce—100 pounds, 4 ounces, the pumpkin having been shipped here from A. P. Stone's ranch at Denare. Other prize winners who came within an ounce or two were: Miss Marjorie Lambert, 1313 South Fernando road, who gets a tennis racket; and Myron Quackenbush, 909 East Elk avenue, who gets boxing gloves, punching bag and a play ball for his trouble.

thing. The officers of the law filed in and their leader stepped up and spoke the fatal words:

"Sir, we are sorry, don't blame Glendale. It's not our fault. But you see, it seems—er, that is, a number of people over in Burbank have complained—and well, you're disturbing the peace, over there, it seems."

The professor had heard enough. Reaching for the axe, he dashed upstairs. Presently there came a crash as of a falling body, followed by a long-drawn shriek.

"Oh, heavens, he's killed her!" wailed Mrs. Z.

The words were scarcely out of her mouth when Miss Xcellente dashed down the stairs, bursting with sobs.

Makes His Choice
"Oh, ma, pop's bust the grand pinanna," she squealed.

Then, haggard and torn, Professor Zantippe emerged. Going to the clothes-dress he produced little Xcrucius, the grandbaby, and pressed him fondly to his bosom, whereupon, striking a pose, he turned to the policemen, placed his right foot down gently, but firmly, and said:

"Gentlemen, you may depart. When it comes to a choice between discords, my choice is always the inanimate before the inanimate. This young man here," holding out little Xcrucius, "will be president."

ASK NOMINATIONS FOR C. OF C. BOARD

Petitions, Signed by Ten
Names Must Be Filed
Before Nov. 12

Complete lists of the members of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce have been mailed out to each of those names appearing on the roster, in order to permit the nomination of candidates for the offices on the board of directors that will be held on Tuesday, November 27, at which time six new directors will be chosen to act for the ensuing term.

The letter accompanying the membership list states that any member in good standing may be nominated for the board of directors by a petition of ten members in good standing, provided such petition is filed with the secretary at least fifteen days prior to the date of election and that no member may sign more petitions than there are directors to be elected.

Petitions to be used in nominating candidates for the office are to be had at the secretary's office, which must be signed by ten members and filed with the secretary not later than November 12.

Seven Drop Out
Under a resolution adopted by the present board on May 4, 1923, no member of the board who has served two years continuously can succeed himself, and the directors who fall under this classification are Jesse E. Smith, C. D. Lusby, Roy L. Kent, Peter L. Perry, Daniel Campbell, D. L. Gregg, and C. E. Kimlin, the last named having served two years by appointment.

The ballots will be sent to the members in good standing on November 12, and the six candidates receiving the largest number of votes will be declared elected.

Maple Street Reservoir Ground to Be Cleared

The city of Glendale cannot, for the present at least, do without the reservoir on Maple avenue. This serves a large portion of the city, especially that part south of Windsor road, according to P. Diederich, superintendent of plant production in the public service department.

He made the statement in connection with a discussion on the general unkempt condition of the grounds immediately surrounding the reservoir. Instructions were given by the council that the ground adjacent to the reservoir should be leveled.

Alderman Horn suggested that the matter of making this ground into a park should be looked into, and the street department will take the proposition under advisement.

Grant Extension on Street Improvement

Street improvement work in Glendale, as in other cities in Southern California, is being temporarily hindered by the difficulty the contractors find in securing macadam rock. This was evidenced by two requests presented to the City Council last evening asking for extension of time on paying contracts.

W. J. Curran asked for an extension of time for completion of the work on Alexander and Milford streets, and Peter L. Perry requested a like period of grace for his contract on Magnolia and Cypress streets. Both requests, approved by the city engineer, were granted.

Women Indorse Sewer Policy of City Council

"We are with you, and endorse any action you may take in the Glendale sewer question," stated Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, in a communication read by the City Council last evening.

On motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Horn, the city clerk was instructed to extend to Mrs. Campbell and the club, their appreciation of this endorsement of their policy from so strong an organization.

AUTO ROW MYSTERY

An air of mystery is hanging over the Dilley & Armstrong Star car salesroom at 115 West Harvard street, where a huge red question mark has been painted on the window, which is otherwise so idly covered with an opaque white material that prevents any of the curious from rubbing in through the window to see what is going on. The solution of the mystery is promised within a few hours, however, by the members of the firm.

"GOSH, WHAT AN AWFUL MESS I MADE OF IT!"

LITTLE DISEASE FOUND IN CITY

Glendale Health Department Optimistic About Local Folks' Well-Being.

"Glendale is very well, thank you," replied Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, in his office at the corner of Brand boulevard and Los Feliz road, yesterday afternoon when asked as to the state of the city's health.

"We are to be congratulated on the scarcity of contagious and infectious diseases, which are very prevalent in some cities at this time of the year. And what is more gratifying is the fact that, although Glendale shows a continual increase in population, the number of these cases reported is not in proportion to the growth of the city."

"As a matter of fact, the cases reported in October were fewer in number than for the corresponding month last year," he stated.

Gains Public Confidence
The fact that people generally are becoming better acquainted with the city health regulations and are showing more of a disposition to cooperate with the authorities is mainly responsible for this splendid showing, says the doctor. The work of informing the people along these lines, and convincing them that the health department was established to assist them, is a tremendous job, however, and keeps the health officer busy.

There were thirty-five cases reported during the month of October, which included sixteen diphtheria, two measles, four scarlet fever, two tuberculosis, one infantile paralysis and eleven miscellaneous. With only one case of infantile paralysis reported Glendale is indeed fortunate, as this epidemic has been alarming the Southern California authorities for some time.

In October, 1922, there were forty-eight cases of contagious diseases reported, thirteen more than are on record for last month.

More Deaths Than Births

The mortality records show that there were forty-six deaths during the month, as against forty-two births. When it is taken into consideration that this includes fatalities from accidents of all kinds, the showing is indeed gratifying. A very small percentage of the deaths were Glendale residents, most of them being tourists who had come here within six months of date of death. This is also true in the diseases reported. Most of them were brought in by persons from the East.

Mrs. DeHaven, city bacteriologist, examined 241 cultures during the month in her work. Of this number there were sixty-eight milk and fifteen water tests.

The municipal nurse, Mrs. Sadler, R. N., and her assistant, Mrs. Wells, R. N., have in their department children's schools, rest homes and other institutions. They report that all places coming under their supervision with few exceptions are well conducted and rank well with those in any city in the United States.

Milk Inspection

The other member of the force is Francis Sweet, sanitary and milk inspector, who has the responsibility of looking after the food supply. Samples are frequently taken from firms selling milk in this city, and he states the standard is very high.

One case was reported where a man refused to comply with the city quarantine regulations. He was arrested and fined in police court. Dr. Kaemmerling hopes that this will be a lesson to residents of this city that his office must have enforcement of the law if the work undertaken is to be successful.

Putting your thoughts into action after the deed, is placing an order for your tombstone.

Debate Contestant Names Himself Winner

"Resolved, That the woman is more intelligent than the male."

Such was the topic for debate in an assembly held yesterday to boost the coming junior-senior debate. Barbara Kranz upheld the affirmative, while James Sargent did his best to argue the other way. As the latter was the only judge in the room, he proclaimed himself and the negative the winner, his clinching argument being that as Eve was taken from one of Adam's ribs and as "the whole is greater than any of its parts," therefore man was geometrically superior.

The assemblies were opened by a dramatic selection enacted by Margaret Longley and Marjorie Temple, representing the senior and junior classes respectively. They extolled the merits of their own debaters and in general had a catty time telling each other what was what. Following this came the aforementioned decisive debate. And to end up the assemblies right, Archie Neel led the students in some peppy yells.

Asks Leave to Bring Road Show to City

H. L. Leavitt, who managed the Glendale exposition staged by the merchants of this city last spring, appeared before the council last evening and requested permission to bring a road show into Glendale next week.

The matter was referred to the chief of police with power to act.

Clubwomen to Greet Federation President

Glendale will be prominently represented tomorrow in the reception California club women will accord Mrs. Thomas Gerald Winter, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, who will arrive in Los Angeles on an early train, and who will spend several weeks in southern California making plans for the national biennial to be held in Los Angeles June 3 to 10, 1924.

Mrs. Charles H. Toll of 1635 Kenneth road, president of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's clubs, is first vice-chairman of the California local biennial board, which is planning to be at the train tomorrow morning to greet Mrs. Winter.

Tomorrow Mrs. Winter will be honored at a luncheon at the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles, where she will address only the board and newspaper representatives of this section.

During her stay in California Mrs. Winter will address two general mass meetings, one in San Francisco November 10 and one in Los Angeles November 13. These will be in connection with patriotic observance of Armistice celebration.

Southern California club women will hear her on November 14 at the Trinity auditorium, and accord her a farewell honor at a luncheon at the Biltmore hotel. On November 16 she will leave for the east after a final meeting with the local biennial board.

School Janitors Here Have Their Own Club

The Glendale Janitors' club, recently organized by the janitors and other men holding equally responsible positions under the city board of education, held a meeting last night at the Glendale Avenue school and formally elected officers. This club is social in nature and the primary object is to promote co-operation in this division of the school system. Officers elected were A. D. Buck, president; C. Barnard, vice-president; C. Newhouse, treasurer; W. D. Bowen, secretary. Others present were A. A. Hubbard, J. Anderson, L. Hugo, T. P. Evans, G. E. Tennant, Chas. Evans and the host, J. B. Wilkins. A social evening followed the business meeting.

Refer Complaint of Club to Supervisors

Mrs. Helen E. MacMullin, chairman of civics of the Tuesday Afternoon club, appeared before the City Council last evening and, on behalf of the club, asked that some action be taken in regard to the dangerous condition existing at the northeast corner of Central avenue and Randolph street.

After taking the matter under advisement, the council referred her to Supervisor Henry W. Wright, as the corner in question is not in the council's jurisdiction, being in county territory, north of the city limits.

Glendale Commandery Thanks Evening News

The hearty appreciation of Glendale Commandery, No. 52, Knights Templar, for the publicity given by The Glendale Evening News to the Orpheus club concert given last night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, under the auspices of the Commandery, was voiced this morning by Dr. Roy V. Hogue, commander.

"We are truly grateful to The Glendale Evening News for its support in this concert project," said Dr. Hogue. "The publicity given was a big factor in the success of the concert."

Dr. Hogue went on to state that the concert is the final big social event of the year until the installation of officers the latter part of December.

Other Cosmopolites at Oxy Club's Meeting

The Cosmopolitan club of Occidental college held a lively meeting last evening around the supper table at the "Commons." A short business meeting was followed by an address on Japan by Dr. George Gleason. The complete program was on the subject of Japan. Edward Jones, president of the club, presided. Many new members were present. The presidents of the Cosmopolitan clubs of Southern Branch, Pomona, and University of Southern California were the guests of honor.

Owl Drug Co. Installs Free Weighing Scale

Another familiar Owl Drug institution came to town the other day in the shape of the regulation free weighing scale so well known to Owl customers in other cities. While a minor part of the drug company's equipment still it plays an important part which few people know about.

"For instance," said Manager J. J. Luedke, "while the scale has only been on the corner for a few days the little recording device which counts one by one those who step upon it, already shows that a total of 3,429 people have availed themselves of the free weighing privilege in less than five days."

Although the drug concern could have continued to maintain the "penny" charge scales, at a profit, it preferred to give its Glendale customers the advantage of a wholly free and accurate scale service, according to Mr. Luedke.

WIDEN COLORADO ST. ALL WAY, PLEASE

Joint Action of Glendale and Los Angeles Councils Is Asked by Association

A. W. Hewitt and H. A. Reynolds, residents of 1325 and 1319 East Colorado boulevard, respectively, as a committee from the Colorado Boulevard Improvement association, addressed a communication to the City Council Thursday night asking that steps be taken to insure uniformity in the width of the thoroughfare east of the city limits, through Eagle Rock. City Manager W. H. Reeves will interview the planning commission relative to this matter.

The committee stated:

Text of Communication
"The Colorado Boulevard Improvement association, through its committee appointed for that purpose, desires to call the attention of your honorable body to the following condition in connection with the widening of said street:

"That Colorado boulevard from the eastern limits of Glendale through Eagle Rock to its junction with the street car line, has not been ordered widened.

"That we understand your action in widening the said street contemplated similar action by the city of Los Angeles covering its portion. Under the present status, a narrow portion will remain and in a measure nullify our efforts for a through wide boulevard extending to the city limits on the east and across the proposed Colorado street bridge over the Los Angeles river.

Request Action

"We, therefore, respectfully request that such action be taken as will remedy the condition, it appearing that a request from the city of Glendale to the city of Los Angeles would serve to do this. "It is very possible that such action has already been taken and, if so, would like very much to be advised of the fact and would thank you for any suggestions if the association could be of any assistance in the matter."

Victory Perches on Glendale Ave. Banner

The first game in the volleyball schedule for the inter-school championship was played by the junior teams Thursday, at Wilson school grounds, before an enthusiastic crowd of spectators, with the players cheered on by various rousing class yells. Victory went to Glendale avenue with a score of 1 to 0, at the end of the hardest fought game ever witnessed on these grounds. The first third went to Glendale avenue's credit with 15 to 10 points; Wilson girls came back in the second third with 15 to 10 in their favor, the final and deciding third stood 15 to 14 points for Glendale avenue.

Lineups were, for Wilson: Marguerite Anderson, Ruth Stein, Rosario Moreno, Wilma Stevens, Julia Pelley, DeForest Rhiel, Peggy Hamilton, Dorothy Putman, Ruth Woodward, Anna Maria Farenson. For Glendale avenue, Mary Blue, Dorothy Brown, Jeanne Leitch, Jean Williams, Lolita Parker, Alberta Hunt, Mildred Reindle, Ethel Johnson, Catherine Doll, Margery Ashton.

Miss Alice Lookabaugh is coach for Glendale avenue, and Miss Ada Salstrom and Mrs. Margaret Struble for Wilson. Miss Alice Foulke refereed.

MONROVIA FALLS BEFORE GLENDALE

130-Pounders Wipe Out Stain of Citrus Defeat by Score of 42 to 6

By NEAL SOOY
Written for The Evening News
Fighting desperately to avenge the defeat handed to them by the Citrus Babes, the Glendale Union High school 130 pounders walked down the Monrovia midgets yesterday in a game played on the latter's field, 42-6. The locals were entirely too fast for the "Wildkittens" and found it easy to wade through them.

The whole team worked good, the line cutting hard and the backfield lifting hard. The backs pulled off better interference than they have so far this season, and this was one of the reasons for the victory. LaFranchi, the locals' diminutive quarterback, played his usual stellar game, shoving over two markers. Lovell at full took the pill across once, and kicked five out of five tries at goal. McAllister missed two touchdowns by very small distances, being stopped on the one-foot line at one time. Muff came back from center to left half the last quarter and carried the pill over twice. Shuler also scored once for the locals, Eckles adding the point.

Last Quarter Score
Monrovia's only score came in the last quarter when Collins, left end, received a forward pass and twisted his way over the line. Passing was the only way the baby Wildcatters could make anything, as the Glendale middleweights had a hard time breaking them up.

Glendale kicked off and held Monrovia, who was forced to punt. Glendale went thirty yards up the field, and Lovell went 10 yards for a touchdown. He also converted. Glendale again kicked and repeated their previous performance, only this time it was "Frenchy" who crossed the fatal line. Glendale started the same performance over again, but the quarter ended before they could score again. Score, 14-0.

Monrovia held the locals scoreless this period, in fact, they were more dangerous at this stage of the game than any other time. With the ball in their possession, the "Wildkittens" went forty yards up the field on passes and off-tackle plays, before one of their aerial attempts was snaggled by a Red and Black player.

Glendale also made several yards and got within striking distance of the goal line when "Chuck" Thompson went 30 yards on a pass. A place-kick failed to function, and the globular was given to Monrovia on their own 20-yard line, where they were held until the half ended. Score, 14-0.

Put in New Team

Almost an entirely new team was put in for Glendale in the second half, but they proved that this act was justified by not only holding the Monrovia's, but by scoring once themselves. Glendale kicked and got the ball from the enemy on a fumble. They then proceeded up the field until Shuler crossed the line. Eckles converted. Glendale again kicked and the ball see-sawed back and forth until the whistle stopped the battle. Score, 21-0.

The first team went back again in the last quarter and continued the slaughter. Collins of Monrovia scored a lone marker for his team when he got a pass and somehow or other evaded three tacklers who were right on him. The Wildcatters failed to kick goal. Monrovia kicked and Frenchy

U. S. C. READY FOR BRUINS' INVASION

Andy Smith's Wonder Team to Face Bitter Struggle With Trojan Squad

By 'DOC' MCGILLIS
Of The Evening News Staff
With more than 50,000 tickets already sold for the California-U. S. C. football clash November 10, it is almost an assured prediction that the new Los Angeles Coliseum is due to have every one of its eighty-thousand seats occupied when these two powerful gridiron creations settle their annual feud. Never before has Southern California been so wrapped up and interested in the great intercollegiate sport, not even preceding any of the famous New Year's east-west struggles.

And it is not the southern part of the state that is getting all "het up" over the forthcoming Bear-Trojan battle. Scribes throughout the state all seem to be of the opinion that both Andy Smith and Elmer Henderson have been "pointing" their respective squads to the November 10 meeting. Since the Cardinal and Gold victory over the powerful Stanford, eleven last Saturday the Trojans' chances for a verdict over the Bruins have been given a considerable boost, especially after the so-called "Wonder Team" was held to a 9 to 0 score by the comparatively weak Washington State College eleven on the same afternoon.

Bruins Favorites

One should not gather from the foregoing paragraph that the writer is of the opinion that U. S. C. will step out and smother the Blue and Gold from Berkeley. On the other hand, it is California who should be the day's favorites. Living on the reputation of not having lost a contest in nearly four seasons, Andy Smith's squad will be a 5 to 3 shot for victory, especially since the Trojans already lost a 22 to 0 game to the University of Washington.

But—the person who figures he will witness a walkaway a week from tomorrow afternoon is due for a rude awakening. Although the Southerners will be the under dogs, there is no telling what they might do, particularly since Henderson has been directing his athletes toward the Bear fracas since the opening of the season. Due to their reversal of form in the Palo Alto contest last Saturday U. S. C. is looked upon as a dangerous opponent for any gridiron team on the coast, and no one realizes this more than Andy Smith. It is highly possible that the Trojans will win, although California is hoped to emerge a winner by about ten points.

Henderson is having his troubles trying to shape up his backfield with Gordon Campbell, his ace in the hole and one of the ball-carrying stars of the coast, on the injured list as a result of being kicked in the ribs by Jim Lawson, big Stanford end. X-rays show that only one rib was actually broken. This, however, with an injured hip joint, is bound to affect Campbell's agility on the field. It's a cinch that he will start if he's able to walk, as he has been looking forward to the last meeting of the two squads, when he took all the blame for California's twelve points. With this in his mind Campbell is likely to prove the star of the game.

With Campbell as the pivot of his combination Henderson will probably center a large part of his attack around Johnny Riddle, dusky star, who cinched a half-back position in his showing against the Cardinals. Riddle has developed real ability in line bucks and off-tackle plays, which have been the Trojans' weakness through the season. Captain Chet Doley will be at his regular position as quarter, while the other half will be taken by Otto Anderson, whose punting and general playing has shown a marked improvement since the opening game.

Substitutes: Glendale — Blair, Sturgess, Krug, Roberts, Wer-nette, Eckles, Shuler, Lee, Neel, Anderson, Alvord.

Glendale Varsity Team Meets Monrovia

The Monrovia heavyweights invade Glendale today to take on the local varsity football eleven. As Monrovia has held the Central league championship for the last two years, a hard fight is expected. The Wildcatters have a fast and light team this season and are determined to avenge the lightweights' overwhelming defeat which occurred yesterday at the hands of the Red and Black middleweights. The Glendale pigskinners are just as determined to complete the good work which the midgets started.

The way the teams will probably start is as follows:

Deny Application to Conduct Rest Home

The City Council last evening denied the application of John J. Westrup to conduct a rest home at 927 North Louise.

Requests of this kind are continually disapproved by the city health officer, on the ground that the location desired is not in a commercial district.

GLENDALE RADIO PROGRAM BILLED

Mayor Robinson, Mrs. Virginia Freeman and Others Are Among Local Stars.

The program from the Examiner radio tonight will be devoted entirely to Glendale talent. This city has been given considerable publicity during the past few years because of its rapid growth in population, and also of having won the fame of being "the fastest growing city in America." A novel program has been arranged which will be a great delight to all radio listeners in.

A feature of the program is Mayor Spencer Robinson of Glendale, who, because of his marvelous voice, has won for himself the name of "The Singing Mayor."

The Examiner representative says: "We consider it very fortunate in being able to secure Mayor Robinson because of his great popularity."

Another feature of the program is Mrs. Virginia Freeman, former member of the Metropolitan Opera company in New York. Mrs. Freeman has won a place in the hearts of all radio enthusiasts for her many contributions to radio broadcast, and also to all lovers of music because of her remarkable success throughout the East. Mrs. Freeman is now a resident of Glendale.

Elks' Orchestra On Bill

For those who like dance music we will have the Glendale Elks' novelty orchestra, which is made up of members of the champion Elks' band of California, having won this distinction at the annual state fair in Eureka, Cal., on September 21. It is an eleven-piece orchestra, whose members are: William C. Bode, director and saxophonist; J. A. Becker, violin; John Gleason, saxophone; L. E. Wilbur, first trumpet; C. K. Aston, second trumpet; I. S. Brown, trombone; E. E. Moniot, banjo; D. E. Langlands, piano; C. M. Burke, tuba, and E. C. Flint, drums.

Mr. Bode, who directs the orchestra, has won considerable fame as a saxophone player and was formerly a member of Art Hickman's dance orchestra.

A surprise feature of the program will be Mr. and Mrs. Harry Girard, who have many times before contributed to radio and whom everyone will remember in vaudeville, where they were headliners on both the Keith and Orpheum circuits for over seven years. Mr. Girard conducts a studio for voice culture in Los Angeles and is a resident of Glendale.

Other Artists Listed

Another artist everyone will be glad to hear is Miss Dorothy Dagley, a new resident of Glendale. She has just returned from a two years' chautauqua engagement, covering the entire middle west and southern states. Miss Dagley will be accompanied by Mrs. Mary Searcy Ball, an accomplished pianist.

Those living in Glendale who are not equipped with receiving sets may hear this program at the Examiner branch office, 213 West Broadway, or at the J. A. Newton Electric company, 154 South Brand, where the program will be sent out over the new Westinghouse Radiola grand.

The entire program was arranged by M. M. Patterson, the Glendale representative of the Examiner.

OLD TIMER

House of Open Shutters Landmarks Amid Progress Beyond the Mississippi Horace Greeley's Ride

By Eleanor R. Blackburn

Standing at the extreme end of Eulalia street, at the corner of Gardena street, with the Southern Pacific railway at one side and the lumber yard at the rear, standing as it were, at bay, with its back to the wall, is a pretentious two-story house whose cupola and many gables proclaim it to be of the vintage of 1889, or earlier.

With open shutters it answers back with unwinking stare the daring and presumptuous glare of the searchlight on the roof of the "usurper," for be it known this pretentious house once occupied the spot where the Gateway theatre now flaunts its bejeweled front and turns its searchlight on the dethroned one.

The house was built originally on the San Fernando road near Cerritos, and was moved to its present location in about 1914 following the encroachment of business in this section.

It was the home of W. C. B. Richardson, one of the pioneers of Glendale and owner of the Rancho Santa Eulalia, a tract of about 700 acres, which he purchased from Samuel M. Heath of Los Angeles. The tract was a part of the holdings of the Verdugos, known as Rancho San Rafael.

Although Mr. Richardson, a son of W. C. B. Richardson, took charge of the ranch in 1873, it was not until 1880 that Mr. Richardson and family left their home in Cleveland and came to California to live.

Extensive improvements were made. Fruit and shade trees were planted. Even now tall eucalypti and spreading peppers in the southern section of the city mark with defined regularly old roads or driveways leading to the river or to Los Feliz boulevard. These eucalypti and pepper trees add much beauty and comfort to the homes in this section.

The 700 acres of Rancho Santa Eulalia were devoted to general ranching and sheep raising in the early days and later some 500 acres were given over to the cultivation of strawberries and the little brown men, and women, too, might be seen bending over the long rows of the broad acres running to the river.

The many-gabled house was built in 1889 and the first home described by the historian as located "midway between the railroad and river" was abandoned. Palms were set out near the new home and with the years grew till they stood like sentinels guarding this pioneer home.

These landmarks still stand, but, alas, not guarding a home, but standing in the midst of a parking station surrounded with honking automobiles of the theatregoers.

This house became the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, radiating those things which in a new community, make for all time.

Mr. Richardson, a man of force and vision, was of the finest type of pioneer American. His ancestry was of the best and numbered among them men of national reputation, soldiers, patriots, explorers and writers.

Of the writers was Albert C. Richardson, brilliant newspaperman, and author of "Beyond the Mississippi," a classic of western life.

Like the young lady, who, on being asked if she had read "Lorna Doone," replied, "Why, my brother and I were brought up on 'Lorna Doone.'" Old Timer might with equal propriety say that of "Beyond the Mississippi."

This book occupies a place in the front row of the family bookcase and was read and reread until the binding had to be replaced, and at last it was literally worn out.

The writer has seen only two copies in California, one in an old bookstore in Los Angeles, and another in Santa Ana, the property of Mrs. Alice Doane, herself a pioneer who crossed the plains in 1852. There is a copy of this wonderful book in the Richardson library in Glendale.

Two incidents related in "Beyond the Mississippi" have been recalled this summer. One by a visit of Mrs. William B. Alexander of 1003 East Palmer to the old mining camps at Placerville and vicinity, of which she wrote The Glendale Evening News.

The author, Mr. Richardson, relates that Horace Greeley was to lecture at Placerville, and as the stage coach toiled up the eastern slopes, Mr. Greeley became very anxious as to his arrival on time to keep his engagement. But, on reaching the summit, the driver whipped up his mules, and the "six-in-hand" came tearing down the western slopes, and the driver shouted to the now frightened Mr. Greeley, "Keep your seat, Mr. Greeley; I'll get you to Placerville on time," which admonition later became a classic.

The other incident tells of the perilous voyage down the canyon of the Colorado of a man by the name of White who, with a companion, essayed the same dangerous course that the government geographic expedition took this summer.

After the death of both Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, the many-gabled house which had witnessed so much of happiness was moved to its present location and, it is possible, the rapidly changing conditions may demand the complete demolition of the landmark.

COMMENT That's All

Senator Johnson's Views
America to Keep Aloof
Rotarians and Cripples
Cynical Paragraphers

By Gil A. Cowan

It's a great game—keeping America out of Europe. Senator Hiram Johnson of California was one of the first to play it. Only recently Senator Medill McCormick reached the conclusion that the United States can well afford to let the nations across the sea "stew in their own juice."

In Oakland yesterday our Hiram gave vent to his views, quoted as follows, which are satisfying on the subject of isolation:

"The great question for us," he declared, "is shall those who have endangered Europe now be permitted to imperil America by taking us into the very mess they have created. If we are a part to fixing reparations—I do not say we will, because the public mind cannot be wholly understood at this distance—I can hear on the completion of the task the same arguments made to take us into the league, the same querulous demands that we must not be quitters, the same appeals to our moral sense to maintain our moral obligations, and the same reasoning that, because we were in a part, morally we are bound to go through with the whole."

Senator Johnson's speech was in the form of an answer to utterances of David Lloyd George. "And now, having gotten us in," Senator Johnson continued, "Lloyd George boldly says in Philadelphia, 'America's duty to humanity demands her intervention to save Europe and bring peace and order.' Some irreverent American might paraphrase this into a duty to undo what the distinguished Welshman did."

"But how shall we intervene and bring peace and order? We couldn't do it with mere words, of course. We will not do it with our money, for the debts due us are yet unpaid and no heavier burden must be laid on our taxpayers. And if anyone in our government, or any distinguished foreigner in our midst, imagines we will keep peace and order in Europe with our men, that we will again, in quarrels in which we have no concern, send our lads across the sea, he sadly misinterprets and wholly misunderstands America."

Rotarians' work with the crippled children in sending a teacher to them has borne fruit, according to a report by Mrs. Flora Hamill Fitzpatrick, now employed full time by the city board of education, in personally directing the studies of the little unfortunates who of necessity must stay at home.

It is good that the Glendale Rotary club has been of such service to the community in calling attention to these children, who now number twenty-two. And, further, the club is backing a project to get a library for these tots. Would that there were more thoughts of others expressed in something material.

And we do not consider it boastful on the part of Rotary to tell the world what it is doing. Their example has been followed by similar service organizations in similar ways with wonderful results.

Indeed, it must be a cynic who sits down to a typewriter and turns out paragraphs such as the following:

Some more "scientists" have gone crazy, or grown into second childhood. It is averred that the "eye kiss makes contact of lips an insipid caress." Perhaps—if the contact is with the irate husband's fist.—Sacramento Star.

A single prune now costing 100,000,000 marks in Germany, our California growers can scarcely look to that country for a large consumption of their product this year. On the other hand, the Germans scarcely will show a preference for French prunes.—Fresno Bee.

Little by little it is becoming safer to be a baby in the United States. The birth registration area is increasing so that statistics are available for a wider section of the country every year. In the expanded area, infant mortality fell from 99.9 in 1915 to 75.6 in 1921. This represents a decrease of 24 per cent in the six-year period.—Turlock Journal.

Coolidge has been married seventeen years. We refuse to say this is why he is so noted for silence.—Corning Observer.

Sidewalks Basis of Complaint to Council

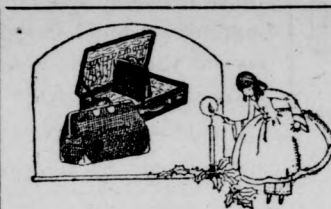

The attention of the City Council was called last night by F. W. Parsons, 300 West Maple street, to the unimproved condition of Central avenue as regards sidewalks between Maple street and Windsor road.

Inasmuch as there is a project on foot for the widening of this thoroughfare, it was decided to ascertain the line where the sidewalk should be placed to conform with surrounding property when Central avenue is widened.

SALESMANSHIP CLUB MEMBERS REVEALED TOMORROW

CHECK DAMS ARE NEEDED TO CURB WINTER'S FLOODS

A committee from the Chamber of Commerce, consisting of City Manager W. H. Reeves, L. T. Rowley and Lyman Clark, paid a visit yesterday to the burned area in Sycamore canyon.

The object of the trip was to gather data for presentation to the local commercial association, and ultimately to the county supervisors, relative to the construction of a series of small brush dams to regulate flood water, which, unless immediate steps are taken, will wash refuse, as the result of the recent brush fire, into the city of Glendale.

They say that the supervisors have the money to do the work, and no doubt they will agree to this step.

GLENDALE POLLYANNA TELLS ROTARIANS ABOUT CRIPPLES

By GIL A. COWAN
Of the Evening News Staff

Little shut-ins, that's what they are, these child cripples of Glendale who are confined to their homes because of some physical defect. And they were an unknown factor in the lives of this throbbing city little less than two years ago.

The Glendale Rotary club, intrigued by what other clubs were doing, a year ago last June appointed Richardson D. White, city superintendent of schools, as chairman of a committee to make a survey of the field and ferret out the ones whose little lives had been blighted by disease.

After that it was necessary to secure a teacher and the club financed this work until it grew to such proportions that the city board of education saw the necessity for employing a full-time instructor for the shut-ins. This Pollyanna, if you please, is Mrs. Flora Hamill Fitzpatrick, who yesterday told the Rotarians of her work.

First of all, the crippled kiddies on Thanksgiving eve are going to hold a bazaar in the high school building. (Continued on Page 4)

NAME PRECINCT CAPTAINS FOR WELFARE CHEST

Precinct captains who will be in charge of the various groups who will aid in the Glendale Welfare Chest drive, to be held from November 19 to 24, were listed at the meeting of the board and the campaign committee in the Chamber of Commerce last night, and it was also decided to invite the various local organizations to detail representatives to fill in whatever vacancies may exist on the advisory council.

Plans for the campaign are rapidly taking definite shape, and by the time the date set for the drive rolls around it is certain, members of the organization say, the machinery for raising funds for Glendale welfare and charitable work will be running smoothly.

OLD BELL RINGS AT NEW CHURCH

Presbyterians Treasure Tone
and History of Casting
Made in 1887.

When the new Glendale Presbyterian church building at the corner of East Harvard and Louise streets is formally dedicated Sunday, December 16, members and friends of the congregation will be summoned to service by the inspiring ring of the church bell, a treasured possession of the church, for it is said to have been the first church bell to ring out across the distances of San Fernando valley and summon the people to church.

The bell was moved yesterday from the former church building on East Broadway and Cedar street and when it was placed temporarily on the steps of the new building it attracted the attention of all those who passed by.

Cast in 1887
It is a massive iron bell, cast in New York in 1887, and bearing the inscription, "His sound shall be heard when he goeth in, unto the holy place before the Lord."

The church people were worshipping in the old church, located on the present site of the G. A. R. hall on South Glendale avenue when the drive for funds for the church bell was started. The funds were raised by dollar subscriptions.

Clock Tower Feature
Later the congregation moved to a building, that still stands behind the church building on East Broadway and Cedar street. In this old building the bell was first hung and rung to call the congregation to services. Rev. A. R. Bickenbach was at that time pastor of the church.

Another feature at the new church building that is attracting attention of Glendaleans is the clock tower, wonderfully fashioned and provided with four circular openings for the four faces of the memorial clock to be installed.

League of Nations Meets at Geneva While Kirk's There

Geneva, "The League of Nations" city, has been visited by W. B. Kirk and family in their tour through Switzerland, and in his letter today Mr. Kirk tells of arriving in Geneva and of the interesting things seen and experienced in that part of the Swiss country. He writes:

"We arrived in Geneva about 6 p. m., stopping at Hotel Victoria. The concierge soon informed us that the League of Nations' building adjoined the hotel in the rear and that entrance of the delegates was made through the drawing room of the hotel, so that we could see them the next morning as they came in before the session opened.

"Of course you know that the League is now in session. We were at hand and saw the old man, the young man; the tall, thin man and the short, fat man; the bald-headed man and the bushy-headed man, as they appeared on the scene, some with great light-hearted vivacity, others serious and bearing the weight of a great responsibility.

"The Japs and Chinese were there, the East Indian and the Near Easterner. The meeting is held in a plain building about 90 by 140 feet in size. Fifty nations are members of the sure of, until the peoples of the world begin to have some spiritual vision of right, of the right of all the other peoples of the world to enjoy life and liberty; of the universal brotherhood of man; of the fatherhood of God; of forgiveness, and of the principles laid down by Christ in the sermon on the mount, wars will continue inevitable. And to draw the United States into any European war is the easiest thing in the world.

"We had a splendid auto drive through and around Geneva and were much impressed with it. It is a very substantial business city and its residential section is also well built. We got a picture of a very odd Russian church, with gilded minarets. Its churches and synagogues are numerous, its public buildings adequate. These Swiss cities are fresh and clean, their buildings don't show the discoloration and marks of age and coal smoke as do those in other countries.

$10,500 IN PRIZES IS TO BE GIVEN

Get Your Name Entered
Today If You Wish to Get Flying Start

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager
The first announcement of the names of those who have been nominated or who have entered The Glendale Evening News' big $10,500 Salesmanship campaign will be printed in this paper tomorrow.

Those who have been thinking over the matter still have time to get their names on the first list if they will call or phone the campaign manager at this office before 8 o'clock tonight.

To have your name on the list when the first announcement is made means that you will have a flying start, for readers and friends of the club members are eagerly watching for the list of names that they may pick their favorite.

Many are holding back their subscriptions until after the name of the club members have been published to see if their favorite has entered the race and also to see who are going to be the winners. For everyone likes to help those who are willing to get out and work and help themselves.

Lots of Room at Top
There is ample room for more live wires in this club. IT IS NOT TOO LATE TO ENTER. The campaign is still in its infancy. There are almost seven more weeks before the big prizes will be awarded. There is plenty of time for any person with gumption, ambition and pep to get in the game, hit the ball and win out.

When you have entered the campaign don't become discouraged, or let any one discourage you. Someone from Glendale or surrounding territory will win that $2250 building lot in Sparr Heights, while another will win the $1500 lot in Oakmont Heights, while the third will win the Nash touring car and the fourth the Maxwell touring car—and that someone might as well be you.

Make Up Mind to Win
If you come into the campaign with the idea that you are beaten, you are. "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he." Make up your mind that you are going to enter this campaign with the determination to win. (Continued on Page 4)

On the Spur of the Moment

In some ways he was lucky. "Twas then Columbo started. From Palos, on the coast of Spain. To the westward he departed. His fame is well established and No sordid tongue can dim it. He found most everything around Except the three-mile limit. Columbo had his hardships, but in some ways he was lucky. In some ordeals he did not have to prove that he was plucky. Inspectors did not board his ship. When he was off the highland, Or lock him up for seven weeks. On dear old Ellis Island.

Columbo lead a peaceful life. Compared with modern sailing. Although his crew oft made as if They'd throw him o'er the rail. He heard no gossip from the shore. By wireless, sharp and spotty. OUR EFFICIENCY COURSE

Own Your Own Dress Suit

Why pay rent when you can own your own dress suit and enjoy scenery that belongs to yourself? Why pay your wages to the heartless landlord who owns the dress suit?

Why not become an owner and not the mere tenant of a dress suit?

There is no place like a dress suit. You never can tell when you will have to take refuge in it and what a comfort it is to look forward and realize that you will have a dress suit in your old age.

There is a certain satisfaction in owning your own dress suit. You take more interest in it than in one that you rent. A dress suit that is rented, especially when the rent is in the wrong place, is never a satisfaction to you. You don't take pride in fixing it up here and there because you don't know when you will have to move out of it and leave your improvements for another to enjoy.

A dress suit that is built according to your own plans and specifications and to fit your particular needs is one in which you always take a just pride.

When you move about from one dress suit to another you never can tell what your environment is going to be nor the state of dilapidation in which it has been left by the last tenant. By floating a mortgage you can easily own one yourself, and in buying it on the installment plan it will seem just like paying the rent.

Do it today. Own your own dress suit. See the contented millions who have taken the plunge.

POEMS That LIVE

THE YACHT

The vessel that rests here at last Had once stout ribs and topping mast, And, whatever wind there might prevail,

Was ready for a row or sail. It now lies idle on its side, Forgetful o'er the stream to glide, And yet there have been days of yore,

When pretty maids there posies bore To crown its prow, its decks to trim, And freighted a whole world of whim.

A thousand stories it could tell— But it loves secrecy too well. Come closer, my sweet girl, pray do! There may be still one left for you.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S APPLE DUMPLING

One morning when Uncle Wiggily hopped down stairs in his hollow stump bungalow, all ready for breakfast, the table wasn't even set. And Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, wasn't out in the kitchen making pancakes.

"I wonder what can have happened?" thought the rabbit gentleman. "I hope the Fuzzy Fox or the Wootzie Wolf hasn't taken Nurse Jane away."

Then Uncle Wiggily heard a faint voice saying: "I'm sorry I can't get down to cook your breakfast this morning but I have a very bad headache." The voice came from Nurse Jane's room.

"Oh, I'm so sorry!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. But don't worry, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. I'll get my own breakfast, and I'll bring you up a cup of carrot coffee. That is something good for headaches."

The rabbit gentleman ate some cold pancakes left over from the day before and then he made the carrot coffee boiling hot on the stove.

"I ought to give Nurse Jane something else than just coffee," thought Mr. Longears. "She always cooks something special for me when I am ill. I'll make the same for her. I'll make her an apple dumpling—that's what I'll make—an apple dumpling."

Now Uncle Wiggily knew very little about apple dumplings. He knew, of course, that there had to be apples in them. Every one knows that.

"But the dumpling part is the hardest," he said to himself. "I'll look it up in the cook book."

So the rabbit gentleman read in the cook book how to take flour and water and sugar and spice and other things nice, to make a dumpling. He found an apple and by putting the two together—the apple and the dumpling—he had what he wanted.

"I'm coming up soon with a cup of carrot coffee!" he called to the muskrat lady, while the apple dumpling was baking in the oven. "That is very kind of you," answered the muskrat lady. "I'm sure it will do my head good."

"And I have a surprise for you," went on the rabbit gentleman. "Oh, what is it?" begged Nurse Jane.

"I couldn't tell you, or it wouldn't be a surprise," laughed the bunny. "But you'll soon see."

He opened the oven door. A most delightful smell floated out, and Uncle Wiggily could see that the apple dumpling was getting a lovely brown.

"Nurse Jane will surely like this," thought Mr. Longears. He poured out the carrot coffee and took that up to his headachecracked muskrat lady housekeeper.

Then Uncle Wiggily slid down the banister rail to get the apple dumpling, which he put on a plate.

He was just going up the stairs with it, and had almost reached the top, thinking how surprised Nurse Jane would be when, all of sudden, the bunny heard the front door slam.

"Oh ho! Some one is coming in," said Uncle Wiggily. "I wonder who it is?" he said, out loud.

"You won't have to wonder long," snarled a most unpleasant voice and up the stairs came bounding the Bob Cat.

"Did you want anything special?" asked Uncle Wiggily kindly and politely.

"I want your ears!" the Bob Cat answered.

"You wouldn't care for an apple dumpling, would you?" asked the bunny rabbit gentleman, hopeful like.

"No, I don't eat apple dumplings!" snapped the Bob Cat. "I want your ears and nothing else."

"Um!" murmured Uncle Wiggily, and just then his paw slipped, he dropped the apple dumpling, and it went rolling down the stairs, bibbity-bob and bounce.

"Oh!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman, "there goes Nurse Jane's apple dumpling. I must get it for her." He started down the stairs but the Bob Cat stopped him.

"None of that!" cried the bad chap. "I see your trick! You want to get down to the bottom of the stairs so you can run out of the front door to get away so I can't nibble your ears. None of that! I'll go after that dumpling myself."

Down the steps he started, but Uncle Wiggily slyly put out one paw and tripped the Bob Cat.

"Bing! Bang! Bung!" the Bob

Cat slipped and fell all the way down the steps, bibbity-bob. Just as the dumpling had done. And the Bob Cat bumped his nose on each of the forty-seven steps.

"Oh, wow!" howled the Bob Cat picking himself up and limping out of the front door. "How sore my nose is." Off he went to his den in the woods. Uncle Wiggily picked up the apple dumpling, which wasn't even broken, so hard it was, and gave it to Nurse Jane. The muskrat lady ate it and soon her headache was better.

Then the bunny rabbit took her to the movies. And if the rice pudding doesn't try to ride on the roller skate and lose all its raisins, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the dried leaves.

Who's Who in the Day's News

"GERMANY CAN PAY BUT IS PLAYING WAITING GAME," SAYS RETURNED PROFESSOR

"Germany is able to meet the reparations terms but she feels that time will operate in her favor, so she is playing a waiting game." This is the view of John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton university, who recently returned from Germany and other European countries. "I did not find any evidence of poverty or unusual distress in Germany," he continued in a recent interview. "The stream of population passed before me much as it appeared in the days of 1912. I learned, however, that there was suffering, confined to a certain class. Those whose incomes are fixed amounts in marks and for which no adjustments can be made to keep pace with the fall of the mark in value are the only ones who suffer."

"Much money is being made and lavishly spent by all who are engaged in industrial pursuits. The profits are deposited in large amounts in banks in Switzerland, England and New York and in investments made in foreign securities. There is every evidence upon all sides of great industrial activity and prosperity."

No Scarcity of Food

"It is significant that during the last eight months Germany has been the heaviest buyer of cotton from our country, paying more than $72,000,000 for it, and is also the heaviest buyer of copper, her importation amounting to something above $17,000,000. It is a mystery where this money comes from, but it is evident that Germany is not insolvent and cannot be regarded as a bankrupt nation."

There seemed to be an abundance of food, not only in the higher priced restaurants, but in the more modest cafes and in the beer gardens frequented by thousands of Germans, seemingly happy, in excellent spirits, enjoying their food and beer. The life of the people, not of the richer class,

German View on Reparations

"All of this has, of course, direct bearing upon the question of reparations. It is evident from the conversation I had with those who are intimately concerned with the present and future of Germany what the attitude of Germany is towards the reparations."

"The first contention is that Germany, from the beginning, waged a war of defense and against invasion; the second, that Germany was never defeated on the field, and, therefore, the peace was a 'peace without victory.'"

"If any one accepts these premises the attitude of Germany at the present time must be regarded as logical; that she will not pay any more indemnity than she is compelled to pay. Moreover, there is a general feeling that, by shrewd waiting, time will operate in Germany's favor."

"There is a real desire in many minds to restore some form of monarchical government."

Mellon Will Answer Pinchot's Last Rap

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The latest attack by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania upon Secretary of the Treasury Mellon for renewing permits to breweries and alcohol plants formerly involved in alleged prohibition law violations was again up for discussion between Secretary Mellon and his advisers at the treasury today.

Mellon is expected to answer the governor with a curt response designed to end the controversy, so far as the treasury is concerned. Failure of Mellon to reply immediately led to speculation whether he would ignore the governor's communication entirely. But it is understood that the secretary at least will send an acknowledgment and make his response public. Friends of the secretary today advised Mellon to ignore Pinchot, and refrain from future discussion with him over enforcement policy.

Despite the governor's request, it was understood that the treasury would not modify its present policy of re-issuing permits to breweries and alcohol distilleries, when the law has been fully complied with by those seeking permits.

French Endanger New Reparations Confab

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—If the French government persists in opposing any examinations by the proposed commission of experts into Germany's total capacity to pay reparations, then the whole projected conference is endangered, it was stated here upon high official authority.

An announcement, purporting to emanate from the French foreign office indicating the scope of the inquiry would be limited to determine Germany's present, and not her total capacity for payment, aroused irritation in official quarters. It was hinted that if France insists upon any such limitation in the forthcoming conference then the United States may be compelled to reconsider its decision about participating.

BURBANK

RANCHER RAISES MAMMOTH LIMES

Burbank Product Surpasses Citrus Fruit of Famed Foreign Groves.

The largest limes in the world are claimed by Burbank, with W. H. Bach of Orange Cove as contender. The specimens with which he challenges America, Santo Domingo, Sicily, Tahiti and other lands of this super-citric fruit measure all the way up to 8 1/2 inches around the long way and 3 1/2 inches the short way, and run up to 2 9-16 inches in diameter. Compared with the average lime of one inch in diameter, the enormous size of Mr. Bach's specimens is apparent. Nor are they freaks of a carefully developed species, the original stock of which came from the island of Tahiti, made famous by the Frenchman, Paul Gauguin.

The limes of Mr. Bach, which he quite reasonably calls Jumbos, are, moreover, entirely seedless, nor one seed having been found in the seven years the trees have been producing fruit, which might lead the uninitiated in horticultural mysteries to wonder about the next generation of little Jumbos.

So delectable are these limes that Mr. Bach finds a ready market for the products of his orchard, hospitals and private families from Los Angeles, Pasadena, Glendale, Hollywood and other points consuming many dozens a week.

"The lime differs from the lemon in furnishing a juice that is almost pure citric acid," says Mr. Bach. "As citric acid is a solvent for uric acid, it is therefore beneficial in the treatment of rheumatism and uranemia. Its use in the culinary department, moreover, is growing, as it is becoming more and more recognized that the flavor of a good lime exceeds that of a lemon, being entirely free from bitterness."

There are about 100 bearing trees in Mr. Bach's lime grove, and he has brought them to a high state of development. It is believed that lime raising will come to be one of the important citrus fruit developments of the next decade in Southern California.

Professional Women Dine. The Business and Professional Women's club held their regular monthly dinner last night in the club room at the Santa Rosa apartments, with a citizenship program featuring the evening.

The following numbers were given: "Today"—Miss Emily Brown, "The Story of the Constitution"—Mrs. Mabel Collins, "Some High Lights in the Constitution"—Mrs. Ruth Nichols Gipsen.

There were also several musical numbers.

(Continued From Page 1) school at which time they will sell little trinkets they are making to use as a library fund. There are a score of them who will be present and other clever tots will present a program for which an admission will be charged.

Need of Books. "I want the children to feel that they have earned this fund," said Mrs. Fitzpatrick, in talking to the club at its luncheon. Superintendent White approved the idea and the Rotary association of directors are underwriting the affair while all members are going to contribute books to the circulating library.

"I find a need for books in the home which are good for the children to read," Mrs. Fitzpatrick said, as she told of incidents in the lives of these little boys and girls. There are twenty-two enrolled this year and one is planning to do art work, while another will be an authoress, the teacher confided.

Learns Aptitudes. Two of the little charges have returned to school this year, Mrs. Fitzpatrick stated, while two others died during the year. She read some of the compositions by the little ones, also commenting on the problem found in the sub-normal children who cannot go to school.

"I try to find out the natural aptitudes of the children," she stated, "for the progress depends on the interest taken by the cripples as well as their parents."

President George Karr, of the club, called attention to the fact that Paul Rieger, district governor, is urging work with the crippled children and Glendale Rotarians have already taken the lead.

Visitors Hear Message. Visitors who heard the inspiring message of Mrs. Fitzpatrick included Clarence S. Smith, Vancouver, B. C.; Thomas M. Sizer, Willis Brown and Joseph E. Leddy, Pasadena; Charles S. Freney, Elliott B. Wyman, Sam Hollis and A. D. Smith, Los Angeles; Paul W. Light, Liberal, Kan., and F. Curt Miller, Burbank.

Tonight the Rotarians are holding a Halloween party at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, the Rotary Anns and Rotarianettes being the special guests. All are to be in costume and Bill Hunter heads the program committee arranging the stunts.

W. B. Kirk Sees Geneva On His Tour of the World

(Continued From Page 1) trimming the street trees in Geneva and others of these towns, so that they spread out like the umbrella tree instead of growing high. Most of them are of the same species, much like the sycamore is, indeed, they are not that, having large leaves and making fine shade. Of equal size in long stretches they look beautiful.

"It seems we are never ready to leave a place we visit, but we must go on, so we took the afternoon boat on the lake, all the way to Montreux, passing Lausanne and many celebrated watering places, with innumerable hotels and villas along the shore, and reaching away up the side of the hills, even to the top.

Lakes Are Exquisite. "None of the hills are bare, all are beautifully green, the grass, shrubbery, trees, hedges, vine-covered houses, all forming a veritable fairy-land. This is the French section of 'Suisse.' The southern and eastern side of the lake is French territory and is really prettier than the other side. Geneva is situated at the end of the shoestring strip of 'Suisse,' which extends down to the southwest end of the lake. The water in the lake is so blue and quiet, you couldn't possibly form a mental picture of more exquisite beauty. The day was cloudy and a little cool, but no rain fell.

"We had never heard much of Montreux, so we were surprised to find it quite a city, and wonderfully located! We reached there about 6 p. m., expecting to go on to Interlaken next day, but found it so entrancing that we couldn't get away.

"It lies along the eastern end of the lake at the base of a circular range of hills, along which streets or roads are cut. The flats and hotels extend up and up, with quaint, narrow, slanting streets connecting them vertically. I won't attempt to picture its beauty any better than I have already done that of the other sections.

Recalls Byron. A train ride along the beach took us to the Castle of Chillon on an island, so called, although, the most separating it from the shore is only 12 or 15 feet wide. You have seen pictures of it, made famous by Byron, whose name he carved on one of the pillars in the dungeon, where Bonivard was chained.

"We walked all through the dungeon and castle, which is wonderfully preserved. It was built in the 12th and 13th centuries for a residence, was afterward used for a fortress and prison, but is now only a show place, owned by the state.

"Antique fireplaces, carved chests, mural decorations, including a frieze of old coats of arms in one room, and blue marble tiling on the walls of another, add to the medieval charm of the chateau.

"At the other end of the town is another, more beautiful, little spot, the Isle de Salomon (pronounced Soloyone), which sits a little further out in the lake, covered with a villa and grounds. It is a 'dream'."

Another letter from Mr. Kirk will be printed shortly.

Youthful Bandits Loot Bank of $1500

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Holding up half a dozen employees and customers in the Owensmouth state bank, at Owensmouth, 30 miles from here, two youthful bandits armed with revolvers robbed the bank of approximately $1500 in cash and escaped toward Ventura yesterday afternoon. Several citizens of Owensmouth in high powered automobiles took up pursuit of the bandits.

Get Your Name Listed In Subscription Club

(Continued From Page 1) termination of winning and if you do this you will be hard to beat. Remember, you can't lose if you remain active in this campaign for you are sure to win a prize or the cash commission.

Consistent, daily effort counts more than fitful spurts—but don't forget for a moment that speed and consistency combined are unbeatable.

If you are entered in the campaign, now is the time for you to put forth your best efforts, for every subscription that you get now is really worth as much as three or four subscriptions will be worth later, for every one you get means that you keep some other workers from getting it and that is worth two and, as the subscriptions count for twice as much now as they will later, they are really worth four to one.

Start Now, Keep at It. With this in mind, it will be to your interest to get started as soon as possible for at the start of the campaign the easy subscriptions are available, but if you wait they will be harder to secure later on.

Tomorrow will really be the first day of the campaign as far as workers are concerned for, with the announcement of the names, there will be a greater interest in the campaign than ever before and if your name is on the list it will be a big help to you. But, if you wait to see names of those entered and then enter, you will find it much harder to get the easy subscriptions.

Make up your mind to get your name on the first list and come to The Glendale Evening News before 9 o'clock tonight. If you cannot call in person, then phone and we will add your name to the list and one of the campaign assistants will call on you tomorrow and explain the campaign in detail.

for many years—

The Glendale Creamery has been answering the need of a very large proportion of Glendale's milk supply.

From the beginning there were certain high standards that became an integral part of our business. These standards have never lowered—they have, however, from time to time, been raised.

We realized that in supplying large quantities of milk—the most scrupulous and exacting care must needs be exercised—that every department from the cows themselves—to the final delivery—must function 100 per cent.

Our customers KNOW that we haven't fallen down on the job. CLEANLINESS—QUALITY—with a perfected early morning delivery, have given us our present prestige and a universal satisfaction.
